Table of Contents

1. In case you need assistance
2. The five Clan mansions
3. New idea
4. Hawkfrost x Reader
5. Jayfeather x Reader

In case you need assistance

So in case you need help with any key words I will leave them here.

MC= Main character

So I will explain more. So these characters are still the warriors we know and love but they will have human bodies. I will try to do as many varied body types and skin tones as possible.

I will have somewhat of fun with these characters. Since hairstyles are one of my favorite things to draw.

I will write here If I put more descriptions. I will avoid using actual descriptions so people don't loose the connection because of the actual descriptions.

The five Clan mansions

So before we start let me say. I don't own any of the pictures or mansions... I WISH I HAD THE MONEY FOR ONE OF THOSE!

Soo the mansions are also a visual reference as the style of mansion I am trying to show. The picture won't really represent the ACTUAL house.

ThunderClan

[image]

Classic Mansion

So for ThunderClan...well since they are the first clan introduced I think a classic style home would be very fitting.

I don't really have much to say. Beside that they would probably have the warriors, apprentices, leader and deputy on the same floor while the elders, queens and nursery would probably be on the same level as our medicine cats.

Thought their bedroom wouldn't be the clinic where they would take care of the sick. I think they would have their bedroom near it.

I can just imagine certain grumpy medicine cats waking up because of kits crying or elders complaining.

ShadowClan

[image]

Victorian Gothic Mansion

So Shadow Clan. For their mansion I imagined something with a dark aesthetic since they are known as "Shadow" Clan. I imagine their mansion giving people the creeps from how dark and sinister it looks at first glance.

I do think there would be an attic or something where the leader would stay as they could watch through the window making sure everything is in order. I also think these mansion would have those phones to connect floor. Like the Leader would have one, the deputy another and the medicine cat another as they are the "more important" members.

WindClan

[image]

East inspired Mansion

So I don't really know why but I thought WindClan would have a fancier Chinese inspired mansion. I guess because the live on meadows IDK?

I just thought it would be fitting of them.

I do think they would have multiple gardens, where they would either train or relax. Hell they might even be the Clan that would do yoga or meditation on Zen garden or something.

I also think they would have amazing gardens full of herbs and flowers.

Their clinic would probably also be a separate building. Probably near the herb garden.

RiverClan

[image]

Contemporary Mansion

So Riverclan I imagine a very modern mansion. The only place that would probably not have that many windows, it would be the bedrooms but who knows maybe they would just use a lot of curtains.

So they of course would have a pool AND the river beside them since its RiverClan. Thought I assume they would mostly use the River to either fish. I also think they would use boats to use on the river so they could patrol or something like that.

I do think they would also go by the bank since there would be a big necessity for them to have multiple boats and my god it's too much.

During summer I do think the pool would be probably be used mostly for the elders as the apprentices would probably be on the river or on an inside pool.

Yeah they would be the clan that would probably have pool. The others would probably have ponds or small pools. Heck maybe RiverClan should be the only Clan with a pool to swim in.

So for their clinic I imagine how in the picture you have that L shape. I do think the clinic would be in a place like that.

I think the Medicine cat would have access to their Clinic on the first floor (like a pair of stairs near the clinic to the upper floor where their bedroom would be.

I think everyone would sleep on the same floor except the leader. I think they would have a third floor with their own suite.

SkyClan

[image]

Farm house mansion

Alright so this was the other option I had for WindClan but decided to make it for SkyClan. The poor guys are always getting kicked out of their home.

So I made them a farmhouse as they are known to be mostly kittypet blood I thought this was a very good idea...for some reason?

Idk I just think they would be that chill clan that would try and avoid fights.... (I have to catch up with the series honestly)...

I think they would also have their clinic on a corner of the house almost separate from everyone. I do think the nursery would also be on the first floor while everyone else would sleep on the second floor.

I think the medicine cat would also sleep close to the nursery.

Also...now that I think about it... I do think that Wind Clan and Sky Clan might switch mansions... just cause Sky Clan are the outsiders... wouldn't their house be the most different?

IDK. Do leave your thoughts in the comments!

New idea

So I am so sorry I haven't posted anything in here. I kind of lost interest in this story BUT I do have an idea to "save" this story and I wanted to know what you guys thought.

I used to read this warriors x reader where the cats were nekomimis (people with cat tails and ears) and I was wondering if you guys wanted one of those.... to be fair I think its the only way to get warriors from me since I lost a lot of interest in this book. T~T

I hate promising stories and then not doing them BUT I don't want to burn out of ideas. Its just a suggestion.

I will probably delete this book in month or two so I would really like if you shared with me your ideas.

I will write maybe one short one-shot of how I would do it just so maybe you guys can say something about it.

EDIT: SOOO I deleted my old chapters. Sorry if you guys really liked them. I will be writing cat boys and cat girls, which are like humans but instead of human ears they have cat ears and tail. Hope you guys enjoy the most recent chapter Jayfeather x Reader

Hawkfrost x Reader

This here is an example of what you might get in the Human warriors x reader.

I hope you enjoy this story.

If you are wondering what is this chapter please read the former chapter.

I also choose one of my favorite cats soooo have fun XD

EDIT: SO I am posting it again as I read it yesterday and saw more errors so I decided to fix them and I also changed some words, added a sentence or two so yeah

---

The young female sighed as her bright eyes observed the male across the Riverclan mansion. She observed as his dark brown hair let drops of water fall, as this one had been in the rain, she could see his strong muscles from his white shirt now see through. She could see his tail twitching in annoyance as he seemed to be receiving medicine from his sister. The young medicine cat was almost forcing a spoon of medicine down the warrior's throat as he almost growled at her for the brute action.

The young female kept observing the male not noticing an older grayish blue haired female be hide her. The female had an amused expression on her face as she observed the younger she-cat "observing" the other warrior.

Mistyfoot: So how is your cat watching?

The young female felt her soul almost leave her body as she glared at the other female that just laughed in amusement.

MC: Geez! Mistyfoot that scared the crap out of me!

Mistyfoot: Well you should be paying more attention. If I was your enemy you would be dead by now.

Mc, a young warrior of River Clan that did spent her days hunting out in the river or just "observing" a male that had caught her pure eyes.

MC: Sorry... I just can't help it!

Mistyfoot: You know I think that everyone here knows already about that crush of yours. It wouldn't surprise me if he already knew about it too.

MC: I-It's not a crush! I just like admiring him! That's all!

Mistyfoot rolled her eyes amused. The young female then felt her face get paler as her eyes widen as she started thinking to herself. Was she that obvious? Did he really notice her gazes? Did she really like him that way? The two only spoke during hunting patrols as the male preferred to spend his days helping his clan which was the whole reason she cared so much.

Mistyfoot: Seriously just say something before it's too late. That boy is probably going to die fighting. Thought I don't see why you are so obsessed. There are so many young males here...

MC: I have my reasons!

Mistyfoot: I would really like to know about those "reasons".

MC: Its nothing important... he probably doesn't even remember...

Mistyfoot: WAIT... You didn't you knowwww...

The female looked at her confused. Then she felt her face explode with red as she shook her head viciously.

MC: NO!

Mistyfoot sighed a hand in her chest as she smiled relief.

MC: I was just a kit. Remember... when I got sick....

Mistyfoot seemed deep in thought until she nodded remembering that said event.

MC: Well everyone was so busy that I couldn't really do anything as my parents were also busy and I was old enough to be alone but I had caught a flew after one of the warriors passed it to me and.... While I thought no one noticed... he did.... He came to see if I was ok as he helped me since Mudfur was very busy with the Clan.

Mistyfoot: Oh... then why won't you talk with him?

MC: I don't know.... After he became a warrior, he stopped talking to me... like I stopped existing...

Mistyfoot: Yeah. I do remember you following him around during training, taking every chance you got to train with him.

MC: I don't know how I feel....

Mistyfoot: Oh dear. Come on. Don't worry, we will talk with Mothwing. The two of you could talk about him, you know.

MC: NO! Mistyfoot, please no.

Mistyfoot ignored her as she walked up to the blonde medicine cat as this one has just came back from her clinic as she looked confused upon seeing the two females approaching her, technically it was Mistyfoot coming towards her, dragging MC with her.

Mistyfoot: Mothwing! We need to talk with you. Are you busy right now?

Mothwing: When aren't I busy? Come in.

The three entered the neat clinic as the blonde female started to put every medicine in its place while Misyfoot looked towards the young female that seemed almost uncomfortable as she played with her tail that twitched nervously.

Mistyfoot: Fine. MC likes your brother.

Mothwing/MC: WHAT!?

Mothwing panicked as she almost fell from the ladder she was in as she widen her eyes and then looked towards the young and pure female in front of her.

Mothwing: When I saw you staring I thought you wanted to say something to me but I wasn't expecting to be to hear such thing.

Mistyfoot: Well yeah. Just tell her if she as chance or not before she gets killed in battle distracted while looking towards Hawk-

Before the blue haired female had the chance to finish MC, with her face red of embarrassment, covers her mouth.

MC: M-Mistyfoot!

Mothwing: Well I was expecting you liking a cat like for example Stormfur!

MC: Stormfur?

Mistyfoot: Yeah he did seem more like the male for you to be honest... he is very sweet...

Mothwing: Yeah for sure.

MC: Stop it! Stormfur is a nice guy, but he is too old for me! Besides I didn't choose to love him my heart did!

Mothwing: Oh well. I feel bad for you.

MC: Why?

Mothwing: My brother....isn't the same... he really doesn't care about anyone now.....

MC: He cares for the Clan!

Mothwing shrugged as she had her doubts. Mistyfoot looked towards her trying to figure out what the mysterious she-cat was trying to say but decided to keep it to herself.

MC: He is your brother! Why would you think so low of him!

Mothwing sighed massaging her temples clearly not in the mood for a fight.

Mothwing: Listen MC, I love my brother! I want what's best for him. And as much as I want to tell you that my brother needed someone like you, I would be lying. I don't just don't want you to get hurt.

MC: I'm sorry...

Mothwing: It's alright MC. Now since you are so dedicated, can you pass by my brother's bedroom to give him his medicine later?

The female nodded as she then walked towards the table after hearing Leopardstar announce that it was time for dinner.

...

MC ate quietly. She did sent small glances at the dark haired male as this one just ate, almost like he had shut off his system, only focusing his icy blue eyes on the trout on his plate. MC felt a hand grab hers as she saw Mistyfoot squeezing her hand sending glances towards the male that was oblivious to the two female's sign language.

After everyone was finished Mistyfoot grunted as she walked towards the kitchen as it was her turn to clean the dishes. MC felt almost bad for her, almost.

She giggled as her thoughts were interrupted by Mothwing, as she used her eyes to guide her somewhere and that somewhere was the handsome male, MC spent her days observing, as her bright eyes meet his icy ones as it only lasted a second as he turned abruptly around going upstairs. To his room, most likely.

Mothwing gave her a package, which had the medicine for Hawkfrost as he was supposed to take it in an hour so the young female decided to take a bath as even though she hadn't gone out, she still helped cleaning the mansion, which could very hard as the young kits like to dirty everything with mud from their playing.

...

MC sighed as she felt the warm water embracing her body in a welcoming way. She had used her honey hair product while for her body she used the coconut one. Even if humans were the ones to invent those things, she really like them.

It made her feel calm as she changed into a new shirt and a pair of shorts. She grabbed the package as she passed by some of her Clanmates that just told her they were going to bed as she wished them goodnight.

Once in Hawkfrost's room she felt her heart beating stronger and faster. She knocked on the door....no answer. She did it again and the result was the same. So then she grabbed the door handle and twisted it, showing that the door was unlocked.

She walked in as she could hear groaning coming from the room and she blushed. She hopped he wasn't doing anything indecent. Thought when she peeked she sighed in relief as he was sleeping, bothered even, as he kept rolling on his bed, sweating and groaning, probably from the illness he had caught.

She approached him, laying the package on the floor, near his bed as she guided her hand towards his forehead, as he had a fever. She almost panicked as her wrist was grabbed with immense force as she was pulled to the warm bed as the male now looked down on her, with his sleepy cold eyes as his breath was heavy.

Hawkfrost: What are you doing here?

His voice was raspy as she could almost hear the tiredness from his voice.

MC: M-Mothwing told me to bring you, your medicine.

His eyes narrowed as he glared at her.

Hawkfrost: Why were you touching my face?

MC: You didn't look like you were feeling good... I just wanted to check up on you....

Hawkfrost: Thought you said my sister had sent you?

The male was glaring at her, suspicious as he had the smaller female pinned underneath him, her tail was bushy up as it twitched nervously. She could feel his breath on her face from how close he was, as she could see his chest moving up and down.

MC: She did! I was just going to bring you, your medicine, but you seemed like you weren't feeling well so I decided to check up on you! I was worried...

The male mocked her, his eyes showing something else she couldn't process, as in the moment she was almost shaking from how hard the male was grabbing her shoulders.

Hawkfrost: You must be a really big mouse-brain to actually think I care for what you feel.

His eyes didn't change expression, even if eyebrows did, deep in his icy blue eyes there was another emotion the male wasn't showing.

Mc: I do care for you... I like you....

Hawkfrost's eye widen as they changed into his cold gaze in a matter of seconds.

Hawkfrost: You must be even more mouse-brain.

Mc: uh?

Hawkfrost: Staying with me will only bring you pain. I am not your Starclan prince that will be gentle to you. I will hurt you and break you. Making sure you regret even thinking about starting anything with me.

MC's eyes started to water. She didn't knew why, after all she was expecting a rejection from the male, she just didn't expect it to be so... cold and cruel. She sniffled a little as she tried speaking without her voice cracking.

MC: I-I'm sorry... Hawkfrost... I do really like you... but I won't bother you again... If that's what you want from me....I will stay away.... I just want you to know what I will always like you...

The shaking girl got up from the soft mattresses as her legs were trying to vary her out of the room. She heard a groan and sigh as her wrist were one again grabbed, this time more gently.

Hawkfrost: Why do you make this harder? Why can't you just see that if you stay with me you will suffer! I just wished that crush you had would just stay as that. This would never happen. I wouldn't have the need to reject my desires for the greater future and pain it would come.

MC: W-what are you talking about...?

Hawkfrost sighed as he sat down on his bed, as she looked towards him. His hands traveled to his dark locks as he messed them around frustrated.

Hawkfrost: Why do you keep temping me? I am doing my best to not bring any misery to you but you insist on having that misery.

MC: Are you saying it's my fault now!?

Hawkfrost: No. I am the one at fault here. If I had just rejected you from the begging, things wouldn't have become like this. I wouldn't have the need to try and control my emotions, my wishes of having you close to me.

MC: I-I...

Hawkfrost sighed once again pulling the female, on the soft bed, underneath him. His breath felt warm on her face as she looked towards him, his icy blue eyes full of guilt.

Hawkfrost: I can't do it anymore MC. You already brought me to the door of no returns! I can't go back now so tell me NOW how you feel about me.

MC: I-I l-like you... Hawkfrost....

Hawkfrost: Good. I won't hold back anymore, MC. Don't complain later after regretting it as I don't want to let you go. Ever.

MC: I-I....

The blue eyed male pressed his lips to the female beneath him, his hand caressing her locks in a gentle manner as his hand caressed her waist.

The kiss felt amazing in MC'S mind. She didn't know what to do as her arms involved themselves around the male's neck on impulse. When his warm lips left hers she blushed scarlet red as she then spoke panting.

MC: H-Hawkfrost! Y-you have to take your medicine....

Hawkfrost growled annoyed while gently nibbling on her ear that twitched from the warm lips touching it, his mow warm voice finding its way into her brain.

Hawkfrost: Right now I need another medicine.

MC: N-No! I can't do that... you're not feeling well. Please just take your medicine.

Hawkfrost grunted but did it anyway after the young female served the spoon to his mouth as he pulled her down pulling her body closed to his as she felt his warm and toned body touching hers.

She looked around for a minute as she then saw the male sleeping close her chest, his arms around her waist as her face red from embarrassment.

She felt her body starting to shut down as the warmth of her lover started to tire her out as her eye closed as she fell asleep.

...

She was shaken in the middle of the night, with the cold air, as she looked beside her. Hawkfrost wasn't there and she got worried as she followed the sound of the water in the sink. She couldn't hear the male huffing and groaning in pain.

When she opened the door she saw his upper body with fresh bloody wounds. She ran up to him panicked as the male flinched when he heard her voice.

MC: Hawkfrost! Are you ok!? Let me help you.

Hawkfrost: ....

MC: Are you feeling alright?

Hawkfrost: We can't do this...

MC: What?

Hawkfrost: We can't be together... he will kill you! He will kill you! He will kill you! He will kill you!

MC: Who's going to kill me?

Hawkfrost: He is going to make me kill you! I DON'T WANT TO KILL YOU!

MC looked over the male has he started panicking, letting tears of pain and sorrow fall from his icy blue eyes.

Mc: Hawkfrost! I won't leave you. I don't care what happens to me! I love you!

Hawkfrost looked at her his icy gaze calming a little after hearing the soft voice of his beloved. He calmed down nuzzling his face into her belly in a gentle way as she smiled kissing him on the forehead. While the male was calming down the female started to finish cleaning his wounds wrapping them in bandages.

MC: Let's go back to bed ok?

Hawkfrost nodded, his tired body followed her as the two didn't take too much time to fall asleep on the bed as the male held the smaller girl in a protective way as she fell asleep in his arms.

Hawkfrost: I will protect you MC.... I beg him if I have too to not hurt you. Your precious too me. You know I wasn't born in RiverClan but still accepted me as a RiverClan cat... Once I become leader you will be the queen by my side as I will protect you and our kits from anyone who dares to come in between us.

Jayfeather x Reader

A nice breeze entered inside the clinic as Jayfeather organized everything... almost missing the kind voice of his mentor and... mother....

To him it was like a nightmare. Having been told the truth about his heritage and having his sister disappear on the tunnels was all too much for him. He knew that his mother was still around the mansion. She had been sleeping on one of the couches of the living room. Would be the last one to go to sleep but the first one to wake up.

Jayfeather groaned in annoyance. Everything was much easier when she was there to help. Having to organize everything and having to take care of every god dam patient was annoying.

There was another person. She would come on regular visits to check on him. It was quite annoying as he didn't need anyone to baby him but that dam woman kept on pestering him by bringing a bunch of noise with her.

Her personality was way too bright, which made her quite popular among the kits and apprentices. Hell even her brother seem to enjoy her presence, he remember Lionblaze once saying how she is like a sister to them as they used to be all close when younger.

He remembered when she would hang out or go on hunting parties with Hollyleaf and Cinderheart. It were pretty great times even for him who could not join them. It was peaceful and Hollyleaf was still with them... and Leafpool was still just his mentor.

He sighed. Today he was all alone in the clinic. Has he sighed hearing the nice breeze entering his clinic he continued organizing everything. He started humming to himself, a habit he had caught of Leafpool. The Clinic didn't seem as dead with it as he continued, he didn't hear the voice of the annoying woman that kept hanging around him.

MC: Good afternoon Jayfeather!

Jayfeather jumped his hand going to his heart as he felt his face burn from embarrassment. Had the woman hear him sing!? Impossible. He made sure to be as quite as possible. He felt her approach him.

Mc: Soooo how are you doing?

Jayfeather hand his hands on his hips while almost hissing at her.

Jayfeather: NEVER HEARD OF KNOCKING!?

Mc: Wellll the door was open soooo I decided to check up on you since I noticed you had anyone here!

Jayfeather: Geez woman you scared the shit out of me!

Mc: Sorry. Wasn't my intention. Also language the apprentice and kits might hear you!

Jayfeather: What were your intentions?

Mc: Welll I came here to give you something!

Jayfeather: I don't have time for your jokes I am working!

Mc: Geez be a little nicer Jayjay~

Jayfeather glared but sadly to him he knew he had to be blushing as he heard her soft laughter. It felt pretty nice to hear something else in that corner of the mansion. He then heard her put a plate down on his table and he raised his eyebrow.

Mc: Soo I made you some cookies!

Jayfeather: I don't have time for cookies.

Mc: Come onnn Lionblaze and Cinderheart already ate their share! Come on!

Jayfeather groaned. He kept putting bottles on their shelves as well has making sure the cabinets were clean. He HATED when things were left dirty so he continued working as he felt the shorter woman walking be hide him while whining.

Jayfeather: Will you keep your mouth shut if I eat them!?

Mc: Yes!

Jayfeather sighed and sat on his chair while crossing his leg and arms annoyed.

Jayfeather: Fine just bring them here.

He couldn't see her but he knew she was smiling, probably a stupid smile like his brother would describe him. He sighed and then he heard her pulling a chair next to him.

Jayfeather: You know I can eat by myself.

Mc: I know. I just want to see your expressions.

Jayfeather: I don't know why my opinion is so important to you seriously woman!

Mc: I don't need a reason to need your opinion Jayfeather. You know ...you're very important to me.

Jayfeather almost gag on his own saliva as he heard her speak. How much he wanted someone to enter the room right now so he would not say anything stupid. He could feel every emotion she was transmitting by her voice. It sounded nice and very kind. He never understood why she cared so much for him, he was always a mouse-brain to her but she kept coming back and being nice to him.

Mc: So what do you think?

Jayfeather: They are good... when did you made these?

Mc: A few minutes ago. I asked Brightheart to let me do them as both her and Cinderheart were the ones at dinner duty today. While they were baking the two were starting to prepare dinner.

Jayfeather: Still don't get why you would do these... we have more some stuff to worry about.

Mc: Well I wanted to do them. I made too much though.... I gave those to Brightheart...

Jayfeather: Why would you make that much in the first place!?

Jayfeather looked in her direction. He knew he couldn't see her face but he could hear her gasp as he felt her getting tense next to him. He looked directly at her his ears twitching anticipating an answer.

Jayfeather: So?

Mc: I had made some counting with Hollyleaf...

The room felt quiet. Jayfeather got up from his chair continued cleaning, his back to her. He couldn't let her see him in that state. He covered his face, his elbows on the counter as he gripped his teeth.

Mc: I know it's not my place.... I think you should forgive Leafpool.

Jayfeather: You're right. It's not your place.

Mc: Jayfeather, I'm sorry.

Jayfeather: Sorry? Can you really expect me to just forget everything!? My mother was MY MENTOR! My father is a Wind Clan bastard! I AM THE RESULT OF THEIR MISTAKE! MY SISTER DIED AND LEAFPOOL IS NEVER AROUND! YOU DON'T KNOW HOW FUCKING HARD IT HAS BEEN TO HAVE TO WAKE UP EVERYDAY AND BE HERE ALONE AND YOUR BEING DEAD!

Mc: I'm sorry.

Jayfeather: Huh!? Why are you apologizing!?

Mc: For not trying harder to be a better friend for you.

Jayfeather gritted his teeth. Of course. She had always seen him as just that. A friend. He knew dam well what he wanted was forbidden. To him EVER think of any romance with the female was impossible. Not only because he was a medicine cat, but also because he was blind. She would never see him more than a friend. Not like she could. Even if she liked him he would have to reject her thanks to the dam curse he was born with.

Mc: I'm sorry! I am so sorry Jayfeather. I know you miss Hollyleaf...I do too thought I know you and Lionblaze are the ones that feel the biggest pain.

Jayfeather felt her arms around him and he tensed cleaning his face with the sleeves of his coat. He would never let her see him in this weak state. EVER. He could smell the soft floral scent from her has her arms were around him.

MC: I will do better! I hate seeing you sad....

Jayfeather gritted his teeth and turned around grabbing her shoulders and she let a small squeak.

Jayfeather: You don't understand a thing do you mouse-brain!?

Mc: Huh? What do you mean?

Jayfeather: You are a mouse-brain.

Mc: Geez thanks.

Jayfeather: But I like you that way. Don't change.

Jayfeather grabbed her cheeks, as he felt the heat on them his fingers feeling the soft skin, his hand moving as one of his fingers touched her lip. He could hear the nervous tone of her voice as it felt like it was shaking.

Mc: Jay-Jayfeather?

Jayfeather hummed. He could feel the voices on his head tell him not do it as it could ruin everything. All the moons he had been hiding from her, his feelings towards the cheerful and hopeful woman that always supported him and his siblings, never treating them different. She became even more supportive of him after the reveal.

She would spend her days helping him, when she didn't have any duties to do. He always tried making her stay away from him. He didn't want to bring her any misfortune as he knew from experience what was to be judge because of your heritage. He would hate himself if he knew she had his kits and everyone would hate her or them because of him.

Thought his heart also told him to go for it has she hadn't shown any resistance towards his sudden show of affections. He brought his lips down on hers and he felt both their faces warm up.

It felt like he was kissing cotton as her lips felt soft on his own. He grabbed her by the back of the head with one hand and the other around her waist. He felt somewhat insecure since he wasn't really used to kissing other people so after he felt like he gained his senses he jumped back hitting his back against one of the counters.

Mc: J-Jayfeather... I didn't knew you felt like that... Isn't it forbidden thought...

Jayfeather rubbed his back as he hissed from the pain.

Jayfeather: I know... forget this ever happen! It's the best option for both of us.

He went to a cabinet to get some cream so he wouldn't get a bruise on his back on the next day. He knew there would be questions and then he would be babied all over again. He could hear her move swiftly next to him.

Mc: What if I don't want to forget!

Jayfeather: For Starclan's sake don't you understand!? If anyone ever knew about any of this we would both be punished! I don't want anything like what happen to Leafpool happen to you...

Mc: Leafpool had that happen to her because she didn't want to tell you and your siblings the truth! She didn't want you guys to suffer knowing about what she did. What she did wasn't a mistake! That mistake, as you call it became you and your siblings!

Jayfeather: That mistake made her basically exiled from here.

Mc: NO! It was because she lied! People need to gain her trust again! She is an amazing medicine cat. Exiling her would be mouse-brain!

Jayfeather: She broke the code.

Mc: Well everyone in the clan has broken the code at some point in their lives! I am sure even Firestar broke code once in his life!

Jayfeather: What about you huh?

Mc: I too have broken the code once.

Jayfeather: Oh really what did you do? Trespass into Riverclan's territory?

Mc: No... fall in love with you!

Jayfeather felt the tube of cream falling him from his hand has he had been rubbing the sore spot. He felt his face redden as he looked at her. He felt his tail bush up as he felt her giving the tube back to his hands.

Mc: So please don't call it mistake.... Don't ask me to forget...

Jayfeather: I don't know why you would torture yourself with an unnecessary burden like having an affair with me.

Mc: Hey. I am not betraying anyone here... well maybe the code but... I didn't choose to fall in love... my heart did. Starclan couldn't be mad at me for loving you. Even if they are... I hope they punish me and not you.

Jayfeather: WHAT ARE YOU SAYING!?

Jayfeather grabbed her by the shoulders as he heard her laugh. The kind and genuine laugh he was used to, the one she did every time her brother would say a stupid joke or the every time Leafpool would complement her. He felt her lips touch his, leaving as fast as they came as she grabbed his hand pulling him out the door.

Mc: Well let's go to dinner, it must be done by now.

Jayfeather: I haven't finished cleaning yet.

Mc: Well we can finish after dinner. After all, you haven't finished all the cookies I brought you.

Jayfeather sighed his hand messing with his silver locks out of frustration. The two went to table where she sat beside him as the two ate. Dinner was as loud as usual. The apprentices at the end of the table eating while Brightheart talked to her expecting daughter, Whitewing while this one just giggled with Brackenfur to her side.

Jayfeather imagined what would it be if him and MC had kits. Would the two be accepted like that or would they just be thrown to the side like Leafpool. He thought about her situation... was this the way she felt towards Crowfeather? The pain on his chest of being scared anything happen to Mc...

Jayfeather just heard all the conversations as his coat was on his chair. While being pulled to dinner by that annoying woman he didn't have the chance to take it off. He could hear Lionblaze teasing him.

Lionblaze: Wow Jayfeather. Never thought you would forgot to take your coat.

Jayfeather: Thank Mc for that. She dragged me here didn't even let me finish cleaning.

Mc: Geez I already said I would help.

Lionblaze laughed as Cinderheart giggled with them. Jayfeather groaned after being done with dinner he heard Lionblaze cry out in agony has he had to take care of the dishes. Jayfeather grabbed his coat going back to his clinic, MC following him be hide him. Once the two arrived they went back to cleaning.

It didn't take as much as Jayfeather expected. Mc gave him the plate as he ate the rest of the cookies as she washed the floor. After they were done Jayfeather locked the door leaving the key away from the apprentices and kits hands while Mc went to leave the plate in the kitchen. After that the two went to her room.

He felt himself stiffen. The room in general smelled very floral, just like her. He felt her grab his hand as the laid down on her bed. Her arms around him and his around her.

Jayfeather: I really hope you know what you're doing.

MC: Of course. Jayfeather?

Jayfeather: Mmh?

Mc: Did you know.... You have a very pretty singing voice.

Jayfeather: WHAT!?

Jayfeather blushed embarrassed as she laughed next him. He grabbed her face kissing her, turning his back to her, as she had quiet down thanks to surprise kiss. As she whined to him until the two fell asleep.

(A/N): Sooo since I said I was going to delete the old chapter to put new ones. Here ya go! I am slowly updating this book soo please be patient.

I will elave the list of character I have to do (Idk if I will do them in order or not but at least you know what characters can expect). Once I do get my lazy procrastinating butt done with these requests I will open them again.

Brokenstar

Mousewhisker

Lionblaze

Ashfur

Rowanstar

Breezepelt and Crowfeather

Mapleshade

Scourge

Lionblaze and Breezepelt

Firestar

Graystripe